Calvin Edwards

Calvin Edwards is clerk, with Loraine Wright as treasurer and Van Ryan, sexton.

At the time Mr. Ritchie completed 49 years of service as town board president the incoming town board members honored him at a banquet for all residents of the community. Also honored was Loraine Wright who had served 24 years as town treasurer.

Industries in Charleston have played an important part in community life through the years. Many of the early industries were established to help sustain life in the community. Typical of these was the Upper Charleston Canal Co., the first such system in Charleston. Water was brought to the town by the system in 1875 through the efforts of
